

Scope Plane

Features:

- A home page.
- A price list page offering different packages
- A portfolio page:
  - Weddings
  - Parties
- Future Features:
  - Charity Events
  - Christenings
  - Portraits
  - Landscape Prints
  - Commercial Work
  - Filming
- A review page
- A contact page/Form page
- FAQ page (Future Feature)
- About us page
- Log in page to view their events work (Future Feature)
- Social media links

What they say they want

- A website.
- A page where potential clients can view all their work.
- A page so clients can learn a little bit of background about the photographer.
- To be able to view a price list
- Links to view Facebook, Instagram, Twitter ect.

What they actually need

- A mobile first responsive website.
- A portfolio page with specific titles to specific events such as a wedding page.
- A about me page.
- A pricing page giving specific details on packages.
- Social media links in the footer.

What they don't know they need

- The portfolio page extending to show potential clients other photo work they offer or other events they offer.
- A FAQ page to save time on constantly answering the same questions clients may have.

- A log in option for past clients to view the work that was done at their own event.

User Stories

Scenario: A client wants to view the photographer's portfolio.

Requirements: Ability to view a portfolio

Scenario: A client wants to know a little bit more about the photographer and their skills

Requirements: Ability to view an about me section on the website also links to social media.

Scenario: A client wants to get in touch with the photographer to book them for future events.

Requirements: A contact me section with the ability for the client to leave their details in-case the photographer cant take a call so they can get back in touch with them.

Scenario: A potential client wants to check reviews from the past clients before deciding to hire them.

Requirements: A review section with clear indication of a star out of 5 and a comment section with the name of a reviewer.